This is serious stuff shared with passion and fun.

It's all about a different story for people, community, and our future social care.

This event is for you if you are a person who

- draws on support
- provides support
- is involved in community engagement and development
- is part of the way support is commissioned and organised

Come and listen to some inspirational social care stories and share your thoughts and energy.

Our events are not old school conferences...

More Than a Provider events are about building new relationships and hearing from innovative people, community-based projects and partnerships. They are challenging traditional social care boundaries and established views.

This supportive and lively event will include stories, art, music, drama and workshops to show how innovative codesigned social care and inclusive local communities are intrinsically linked to our vision for #SocialCareFuture.

About the #SocialCareFuture More Than a Provider Events

Many social care providers are "more than a provider" – working alongside people who draw on support to have control over their lives, live in their own homes and have positive relationships, purpose and meaning in their local communities.

To make this happen some providers have become community connectors, empowering, enabling and resourcing people with disabilities to become positive and dynamic community contributors, shapers and leaders. Present sector pressures, focused on funding and recruitment, mean these important stories and developments are not heard or understood, when in fact they represent a crucial part of the future of social care.

To bring about change a small number of not-for-profit providers came together, under the banner of "More Than a Provider" to ensure these stories have a voice, and to demonstrate the importance, not just to the individuals, but to the fabric of our communities and social care.
